

Sneak Peek into One Sixty Madison, NoMad's New 'It' Building

October 19th, 2015 \ \ Blog, News \ \ Tagged: apartments, beach, city, dallas, ethics, facebook, history, industry, jobs, new-orleans, new-york, news, philadelphia

Standing at 45-stories , One Sixty Madison offers luxury rental residences in NoMad, at the nexus of Chelsea, Gramercy and Midtown. Designed by SLCE Architects with interiors of sophistication by Philip Koether, One Sixty Madison features a unique octagon shape and 45 degree angle to the Avenue, resulting in expansive, game changing views of the city. Residences—many with 12' ceilings—feature floor-to-ceiling windows accented by White Oak floors and spacious layouts offering remarkably furnish-able spaces, with most able to accommodate dining tables for up to 8 people. Residents have access to over 20,000 square feet of amenities, including the top floor Three Sixty Lounge, featuring an indoor fireplace and two rooftop terraces. Also included is the 14,000 square feet Park Lounge, which is surrounded by the building's elevated private park. Additional amenities include a fitness center overlooking the private park, valet and concierge services, bicycle storage and a fully attended lobby. Learn more this way. > >

Continue reading here:

Sneak Peek into One Sixty Madison, NoMad's New 'It' Building